

Appropriate toys

Occasionally pups who have gone on to guide work have a difficult time distinguishing between what is a dog toy, a child's toy or someone's favorite fluffy slipper. To address this concern, the kennels at the Canine Development Center are eliminating soft toys from the puppies' "reference library". Please eliminate plush toys and any other items that resemble children's toys from the pup's toy box. If you have any questions about a toy's appropriateness, please speak with your Regional Manager.

Here is a list of suggested toys that will prepare for an easier transition for guide dog users. We know you want our puppies to be successful and greatly appreciate your help in making this transition.

All toys should be larger than an adult-sized fist—wider diameter than 3inches or bigger.

All toys must be regularly monitored and checked for damage or excessive wear and tear. Please monitor the pup's chewing style and intensity since age/stress level/type of toy will all affect this.

Do not buy any toys specifically for puppies—our puppies grow too quickly, and the toys will quickly become inappropriately sized.

Please note in the puppy kit you will receive some toys -- these toys will vary in size and brand. If you receive a smaller toy in your kit (e.g. for puppies or Kongs of different colors) -- these are for puppies under 4 months old. They will need to be removed once the puppy is older than 4 months (or younger depending on the puppy's size and chewing style).
